ROW DATA

The analysis is based on the dataset provided by the client.

The main dataset includes the company sales records covering the period July 2024 to December 2024.

It contains 127 row and 21 columns.

DATA QUALITY

There was missing values in most of the columns, irrelevant data, inconsistent formats for dates and payment method, and columns without a name.

DATA CLEANING

- Irrelevant columns were removed (ex: phone number, order id “20% was missing”)
- Handled missing values from another columns: product type column from product details, order status from row color (red or green).
- All dates were standardized to the format YYYY-MM-DD to ensure correct sorting, grouping, and time-series calculations (some were Arabic, incomplete ,and missing).
- Calculated columns were created to support KPIs analysis like client type, order delivery period, and city extracted from address column.

SALES BY GOVERNORATE

OBSERVATION!!

While beds represent the highest-selling product across most governorates, the data shows that chairs outperformed beds in Hurghada, indicating a localized difference in customer demand.

RECOMMENDATIONS & SOLUTIONS

- INCREASE MARKET SUPPLY OF BEDS PRODUCTS

To maximize sales, we recommend increasing the availability of the beds products across all governorates. Ensuring that the market is fully supplied with high-demand items can help maintain momentum and prevent stock shortages.

- NALYZE REASONS BEHIND LOW SALES OF UNDERPERFORMING PRODUCTS

Products with low sales performance (Sectional Sofas and chairs) should be further investigated to understand whether the issue is related to pricing, quality, customer preference, or lack of marketing. Addressing the root cause can help improve their sales contribution.

- LEVERAGE CAIRO AS THE HIGHEST-SELLING CITY

Since Cairo records the highest sales across all products, launching targeted marketing campaigns or promotional activities there could further increase sales and strengthen overall performance.

- DEVELOP A STRATEGY TO IMPROVE SALES IN ASSIUT

Assiut shows the lowest sales levels. Promotional offers, localized marketing campaigns, or partnerships with local distributors may help increase brand visibility and boost sales in this region.

INCOME RAISE

SALES TREND INSIGHTS BETWEEN JULY & DECEMBER

650 %

There is a noticeable increase with about 650% in sales during September (chart A), while July recorded the lowest sales across the entire period. When reviewing the detailed product-level performance (chart B), we can see that the main driver of the sales increase in September was the bed, whereas the other products remained relatively close in performance, with a moderate overall increase during that month.

We also observe a significant rise in table sales in November, contributing to the improved monthly performance.

RECOMMENDATIONS & SOLUTIONS

- BOOST STOCK LEVELS FOR HIGH-DEMAND MONTHS

Since September shows a strong increase in sales—driven mainly by bed sales—it is recommended to increase inventory levels for beds and other key products ahead of this period to meet demand and avoid stockouts.

- INVESTIGATE LOW SALES IN JULY

The significant drop in July sales suggests potential issues such as seasonality, low marketing activity, or limited product availability. It is advised to analyze whether there were supply shortages, Changes in pricing, Decreased marketing campaigns

- CAPITALIZE ON THE INCREASE IN TABLE SALES IN NOVEMBER

The spike in table sales in November suggests seasonal or event-driven demand. Consider running: Special promotions during the same period next year, Online campaigns highlighting tables, Cross-selling with chairs or other related items help increase brand visibility and boost sales in this region.

- INTRODUCE PROMOTIONS DURING LOW-PERFORMANCE MONTHS

To stabilize sales across the year, especially in months with historically lower performance like July, the business can launch:

- Discount campaigns
- Limited-time offers
- Free delivery promotions

These can help attract more customers and balance monthly performance.

CONCLUSIONS

The analysis shows strong overall performance, with September achieving the highest sales driven mainly by bed orders, while July recorded the lowest activity. Cairo is the top-performing governorate, whereas Assiut has the weakest sales, indicating the need for targeted marketing and promotions in low-performing areas. Although beds are the best-selling product across most regions, chairs performed better specifically in Hurghada. Platform performance is highly concentrated, with one main platform generating the majority of sales.

Although platform performance is heavily concentrated, with Homezmart platform generating the majority of sales, while others contribute significantly less. Additionally, the dashboard shows a 48% on-time delivery rate and an 18% cancellation rate, which suggests operational areas that require improvement.

The company currently serves 76 clients in total, including 3 companies and 73 individual customers.

These insights—combined with product trends, platform distribution, and area-based performance—provide a clear direction for improving inventory planning, optimizing marketing efforts, and enhancing overall operational efficiency.
